> The operator chooses which app they prefer to use, and the starting location can be manually input otherwise it is automatically set to your device's location.

> The operator either copies and pastes the address or manually enters it into the boxes.

> The big red button "generate link" gathers all these addresses and generates a multi-stop link for google or apple maps.

> Clicking on the link opens the route in the app. Drivers can then reorganize stops if needed.
>
> Note: Route optimization is not implemented yet in the proof of concept.

> All the stops can be seen on the map here with the route between each stop! 😊
